

If a swarm of honey bees land on your property, do not disturb them. Keep pedestrians, children and pets away from the swarm. Swarms in the clustered stage are relatively gentle, and the risk of stings is low. Nevertheless, treat swarms with caution. A swarm usually relocates to a permanent nest, a hollow tree, abandoned beekeeper's hive, or inside a hollow wall within 24 hours. If the swarm is safely located away from animals and people, you may wait for it to fly away on its own. If the swarm poses a r
