

Standard and weeping forms of yaupon hollies have smaller duller colored leaves but can be filled with thousands of small red berries for a couple of months in the late fall.

